About Conference

The global business landscape is evolving rapidly, creating both opportunities and a responsibility to raise the ethical standards in audits and reporting. These practices serve as the bedrock of trust and sustainable growth. The fundamental goal is to bridge the gap between compliance and conscience, ensuring that corporate accountability extends beyond the balance sheet to encompass the overall social and environmental impact.

Global Reporting standards, ESG disclosures, and risk-based auditing are redefining corporate governance, making compliance with ESG standards an integral part of financial reporting. With stronger regulations and rising stakeholders demand for accountability and transparency, India is steadily aligning with these benchmarks for shaping a governance and reporting ecosystem directed towards Viksit Bharat aspirations.

The new-age economy, driven by digitalization, AI, and blockchain, governance now covers ESG metrics, ethical supply chains, and climate risks, creating a unique opportunity for harmonized, reliable, and transparent sustainability reporting worldwide.

With the immense significance of this transformation, ASSOCHAM is convening an International Conference on 'Responsible Corporate Governance & Financial Reporting' on Tuesday, 25th November 2025, in Hotel Le Méridien, New Delhi, to explore emerging trends in sustainability and address the challenges of greenwashing in governance and reporting.
